1. Binance enters partnership with TikTok star Khaby Lame & football legend Cristiano Ronaldo

TikTok star Khaby Lame joins the world's largest crypto exchange as a brand ambassador. The company announced this in an official blog post.

"An important step for Binance is to increase awareness and adoption of Web3, and working with a superstar like Khaby Lame will allow us to bring this mission to a whole new audience," Binance writes.

The TikTokker will not only help Binance make various Web 3.0 concepts more accessible but will also launch its own NFT collection.

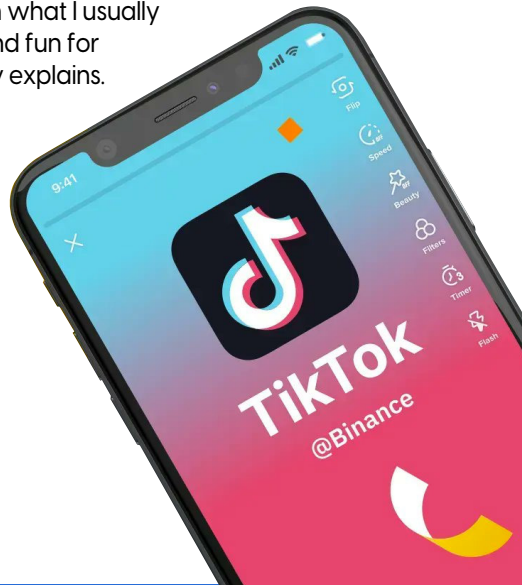

"I've been curious about Web3 for a while and jumped at the chance to work with a leading company like Binance because it fits perfectly with what I usually do: making complex things simple and fun for everyone," the social media celebrity explains.

Khaby Lame is the most successful TikTok star ever and now counts 145 million followers.

He became famous for his short comedy videos in which he pokes fun at supposed "life hacks."
